Latter, However, Are Flying from Bulgaria and Taking Refuge at Adrianople.

(By Associated Press.)
VIENNA, August 18.—The Turkish ambassador has received a circular note concerning Bulgarian affairs, which the Porte will present to the powers. The circular points out that the Porte is compelled by the treaty of Berlin to protect the liberties and persons of all Greek and orthodox believers in Bulgaria and Eastern Rumelia, and that the Grand Vizier already has remonstrated with the Bulgarian agent at Constantinople, who resorted to reproaching the conduct of the Turks in Macedonia.

Flee from Bulgaria.

Plans of the Commission That Will Make Rules.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 18.—The commission for formulating rules for the enforcement of the pure food and drug act appointed by the departments of the Treasury, Agriculture and Commerce and Labor, has made up a list of subjects that are to be accorded the food manufacturers before the rules are promulgated. The hearings will be held in New York between September 17th and September 28th. There are twelve groups into which the various questions of ruling are divided. They deal with the original packages as prepared for export, the collection of samples, hearings and publications, the use of colors, flavors and preservatives, misbranding of foods and drugs, mixtures, compounds, imitations and blends, proprietary foods, drug adulteration and misbranding, confectionery, the establishment of the government guarantee and the inspection of imported foods.

Circulars announcing the field to be covered are being sent out to all the food manufacturers interested, and those who wish to appear either in person or by proxy, or who wish to file briefs are directed to make their request to D. Wiley, of the Department of Agriculture, before September 10th.

NEGRO ARRESTED FOR STABBING ANOTHER

Quarrel Arose Over Visit to Young Woman—Fight With Bricks and Knives Follows.

Tom Paine, colored, was arrested last night by Bicycle Policemen Amos on a warrant sworn out before Judge Purdie by Jim Wether, also colored, while on his way to the City Hospital in an ambulance, charging him with stabbing him with a knife.

Paine said at the Second Police Station last night that he was visiting a girl who lives in the rear of 1650 West Grace Street, when Wether entered the front gate and said he was going to shoot him at the same time brandishing a pistol. The girl pushed Wether off the porch while Paine ran out the back gate. Wether pursued him and knocked him to the ground with a brick, then began beating him with a brick. Paine claims that he drew a knife and cut his opponent in self-defense.

He expects to reach this city about the middle of September.

Ruffin has been held for the grand jury by Justice J. L. Hart, of Farmville. He was arrested on information given by another negro, who had confessed to his participation in the murder of Grubbs.

Has City Engineer Summoned.

Dr. M. C. Levy yesterday reported the city of Richmond for allowing an alley between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Streets, and between P and A Streets to be and remain in an unsanitary condition. City Engineer W. B. Cuthaw was summoned to appear and answer the charge.

The case was continued until the 24th of the month, when it is thought that Justice Crutchfield will have returned from his vacation and will settle the matter.

Fireman Injured.

FAYETTE, N. C., August 18.—This morning the overturning of an engine on a side-track of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad caught Fireman George Lina, between the engine and tender, badly fracturing one leg and so injuring one hand as to necessitate the amputation of a finger.

Boys in Vaudeville.

Seven little boys gave a vaudeville and charged five cents a ticket, and realized $5.10. Their names were Ralph Wallerstein, Clarence Johnson, Sylvian Rothchild, Adrian Bendheim, Cleveland Sauer, Henry Stern and Jack Anber. The proceeds were given to the Ice Mission.

FLAMES GREATLY DAMAGE RESIDENCE

Mr. Wallace I. Stockton, of Barton Heights, Suffers Considerable Loss by Fire.

Fire yesterday morning damaged the home of Mr. Wallace I. Stockton, of Barton Heights, to the extent of about $1,000. The furniture was all saved through the heroic efforts of neighbors, who rushed to the scene immediately after the alarm was sounded.

The house was owned by Mr. H. W. Davis, of Goldsboro, N. C., and was covered by insurance.

About 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. Stockton told her thirteen-year-old son, Wallace, to build a fire in the stove in the kitchen. The boy poured kerosene oil into the stove where there were live coals. The blaze shot up at once, and the oil can in the hands of the boy exploded.

The child screamed and threw the can from him. His eyebrows were singed, and he narrowly escaped from serious burning.

The alarm was at once given and the volunteer department of Barton Heights at once responded. Two streams were thrown on the burning building and a telephone message was sent to Richmond for assistance.

Engine Company No. 3, Captain Myers in charge, responded to the alarm, and gave great assistance to the volunteer men of the suburban place.

The blaze was extinguished after the house was damaged to the extent of about $1,000.

Mr. Stockton is the general agent of the International Harvester Company, and is very well known in Richmond and Barton Heights. The citizens were extremely kind to him, and his furniture was all taken to the home of Mrs. Kuyk, just across the street.

RAILWAY CONDEMNNS LANDS FOR STATION

C. & O. Want More Property on Seventeenth Street for Freight Station.

The Chesapeake and Ohio on yesterday instituted condemnation proceedings in the matter of property owned by Elizabeth Pinke, Annie and Michael Pinke, Thomas and Maude Pinke, Muscoe Pinke, Ida and Theodore Snyder, Lizzie Channing and Mark Pinke, Irene and Mack Hall, A. B. and G. W. Warren, trustees for T. W. Chelf, Theresa and W. W. Talley, Kate and T. J. Nolan, Celeste Mulligan, Bridget and Annie Irvin, Mary and Peter T. Murphy, Samuel Bruce Dunston, Michael Murphy and Charles S. Smith.

The property is located on Seventeenth Street, between Broad and Clay Streets, and will be used for the purpose of building a large freight depot, plans for which the Chesapeake and Ohio announced several months ago.

The railroad company has for the past year been steadily acquiring property in this locality, and the proceedings now instituted are for the purpose of securing these parcels, which cannot be secured by private sale.

President Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio, denies positively that the new freight depot will be used by all the roads as a union freight station. He says such an idea must have arisen from the fact that private parties are planning to build a licensed warehouse in the neighborhood of the proposed depot.

Among those mentioned are Captain George N. Perry, of Staunton; Major Stanley W. Martin, of Danville; Captain R. B. Craighill, of Lynchburg.

Following is the order that has been issued from the office of the Adjutant-General:

ELECTROCUTED BY ARC LIGHT CONTACT

Attempt to Light a Cigarette Caused Death of Negro Boy.

(Special by Southern Bell Telephone.)
LYNCHBURG, VA., August 18.—Robert Williams, a colored youth, was electrocuted last night at the corner of Seventh and Elmwood Streets under circumstances that were unusual and peculiar. He lost his life as the result of his own act, and George Hackett, another colored boy, received a severe shock at the same time that Williams lost his life.

At the corner of these two streets workmen had been putting in some one-inch water pipes, and when they stopped work yesterday several lengths were left until they returned to-day. Last night Williams picked up a section of this pipe, which is about twenty feet long, and placed a piece of pipe one end on the ground and lifted it up to the arc light for the purpose of lighting the paper. As soon as the paper came in contact with the light the boy received the full force of 2,300 volts.

He was hurled some ten feet into a ditch, and he was in it when picked up. The Hackett boy saw the danger, his companion was in and rushed to try to make him stop, and it was in this way he received the severe shock. He was stupefied by the shock but recovered an hour later.

Delightful House Party.

A most delightful house-party is now in progress at "Westwood," the beautiful country home of Messrs. Wm. and Dick Darracott, in Hanover county.

Those enjoying the hospitality of their kind hosts are Misses Julia and Susie Darracott and Pearl Oakley, of Brandon; the Jameses: Misses Belle, Helen and Lee Carter and Inez Mifflin, of Petersburg; Miss Adele Sharp, of Norfolk; Miss Mamie Bayless, of Richmond. The party is being chaperoned by Mrs. R. Franklin Livsey, of Petersburg.

The time is most delightfully spent in riding, driving, walking, dancing and in visiting the places of interest throughout the neighborhood, prominent among which are Hanover Town, which came within one vote of being the capital of the Old Dominion; Studley, the birthplace of Patrick Henry; the grave of Captain Latane, Cold Harbor and Seven Pines, the famous battlefields, and not far away in New Kent is the historical old St. Peter's Church, where George Washington was married.

A SHINING MARK.

Thomas W. Taylor, Jr., Accomplished Much at Age of 21.

Thomas W. Taylor, a brief notice of whose death appeared in yesterday's Times-Dispatch, was a valued correspondent of The Times-Dispatch and a remarkable young man. Mr. Frank P. Brent, who knew him intimately as a boy, furnishes the further interesting facts about him:

The old saying that "Death loves a shining mark" was forcibly illustrated by the announcement in The Times-Dispatch of Friday that Thomas W. Taylor, Jr., of Onancock, had died the day before in a hospital at Salisbury, Md. This young man, who had reached his twenty-first birthday on the 14th of last April, was taken ill with appendicitis last Monday, carried to the hospital on the following day, operated on at once, and died on Thursday. He was the son of Thomas W. and Susan Lankford Taylor, the youngest of four children, the only son, and the idol of the family.

From early infancy (ill he was about fifteen years old he was a delicate child, and fears were entertained that he would not live to reach man's estate; but of late years he had become remarkably robust. In spite of ill health he had accomplished a remarkable feat. At seven years of age, and when quite small in consequence of ill health, he learned the entire multiplication table in less than two hours, his mother having promised him a reward of a penny a line if he would do so.

He exhibited similar precocity of mind in other branches of study, especially in history and politics. He was a great admirer of Grover Cleveland, and when in 1896 the Democrats nominated Bryan for a free silver platform, Tom Taylor, though eleven years old, in open opposition to nearly every other boy in the town and in the face of strong popular sentiment bravely espoused the cause of sound money and advocated the election of McKinley to the presidency.

This writer frequently saw during that exciting campaign, debating with from fifteen to twenty young men and boys, and his superior knowledge of history and politics and his fine mental powers made him more than a match for them. Later on his fine political insight enabled him to recognize the rising star of Theodore Roosevelt; and when Colonel Roosevelt returned from the Spanish War, young Taylor, then only thirteen years old, had him elected an honorary member of the boys' debating society of Onancock. Colonel Roosevelt gracefully accepted the honor in an autograph letter addressed to young Taylor.

At fifteen years of age he became the Eastern Shore correspondent of the Richmond Times and the Baltimore Sun and American, which service he continued with great efficiency and fidelity to the day he was stricken down with his fatal malady. At the same time he was engaged in mercantile pursuits with his cousin, E. P. Miles, Esq.

On his father's side he was descended from some of the most noted families of Eastern Virginia, including the Balls, Blackwells, Lees, Steptoes, Pages and others. His maternal grandfather was Benjamin Lankford, Esq., a very prominent and influential gentleman of Somerset county, Maryland, an Old Line Whig, and the personal friend of Henry Clay and Daniel Webster.

In honesty and morality, he was a model boy and young man. He had enjoyed careful parental training, and he had full credit to that training, for it is said of him that indecent words did not fall from his lips, an untruth he could not utter, and intoxicating drinks he never indulged in. Such a youth was the comfort and solace of his parents and sisters and the pride of his friends, whose names in legion. He was devoted to the Episcopal Church, the church of his ancestors on both sides of the house.

That he should have been cut off on the very threshold of life is indeed sad, but the memory of this pure and manly youth will abide as a sacred possession with all who had the good fortune to know him.

James W. Gish.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BEDFORD CITY, VA., August 18.—Mr. James W. Gish, an honored and highly-esteemed citizen, died this morning at 3:30 o'clock at his home, on College Street, after a protracted illness, succeeded by a stroke of paralysis he sustained some time since at his place of business, when seemingly in excellent health and spirits.

Since then he has had repeated attacks and suffered the most distressing nervousness.

With the exception of a short time spent in Roanoke, where he engaged in business, Mr. Gish had passed his life from childhood in Bedford City, and commanded the highest respect by his unswerving integrity and courtesy of all with whom he came in contact, and he was very popular among all classes of society.

For a number of years he engaged in the tobacco business under the firm name of Gish & Smith, his last business connection was a member of the Farmers' Supply concern, from which he retired when he became ill.

He was a valued and faithful member of the Presbyterian Church, from boyhood and had for many years held the position of an elder. The funeral services will take place from this church Sunday afternoon.

His wife, who was before marriage Miss Florence Barclay, of Lexington, and two children—Miss Juliet Gish and a little son, Percy Gish—survive him. He leaves two brothers and two sisters, who are Mr. George Gish, of Roanoke, and Mr. Robert E. Gish, of Lynchburg; Mrs. M. A. Gish, of Staunton, and Mrs. Alice Shannon, of Giles county.

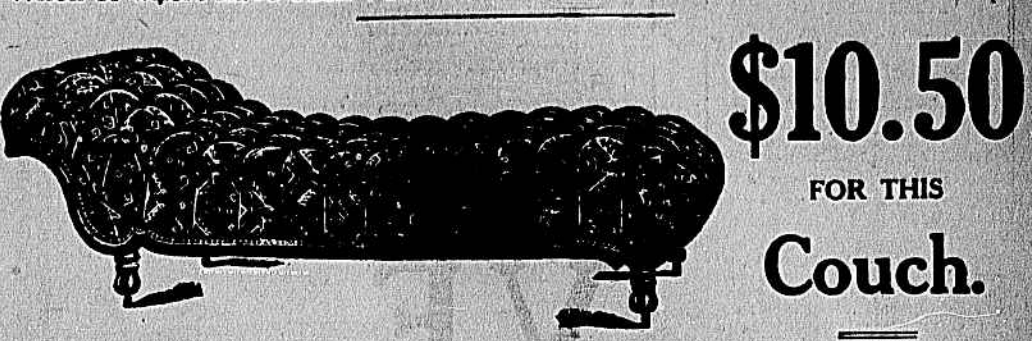

R. L. Grizzard.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ADAMS GROVE, VA., August 18.—Mr. Richard L. Grizzard, a highly respected citizen of this community, died after an illness of about two hours' duration Wednesday night. He was in his usual health until a short while before death, when he attended a protracted meeting in progress at Hebron Baptist Church on Wednesday, conversed pleasantly with numerous friends, and then returned home at night. After supper, while sitting and talking with members of the family, he was suddenly seized with a stroke of apoplexy and in a short while passed away. Physicians express the opinion that heart trouble was the immediate cause of death.

Deceased was in his sixty-ninth year, and the last living representative of a large family of children. He was born in Sussex county and spent his entire life in the counties of Sussex and Bolivar. On September 20, 1831, while a soldier of the Confederacy, he returned home and was married to Miss Rebecca Clement, a woman of lofty and rare intellectual gifts. From this union there were born four sons—Messrs. C. F. J. B. C. and Rev. J. B. Southampton all well-known men of Southampton

REQUIESCAT.

By OSCAR WILDE.

Other selections and biographical sketch of this author have already appeared in this series.

Tread lightly, she is near
Under the snow;
Speak gently, she can hear
The daisies grow.

All her bright golden hair
Tarnished with rust;
She that was young and fair
Fallen to dust.

Lily-like, white as snow,
She hardly knew
She was a woman, so
Sweetly she grew.

Corn-board, heavy stone,
Lie on her breast;
I vex my heart alone,
She is at rest.

Peace, peace, she cannot hear
Lyre or sonnet,
All my life's buried here,
Heap earth upon it.
